Caribbean Politics

21:790:312 - Political Science //// 21:014:302 – African American and African Studies
Winter 2022 – December 23 – January 14

About This Course (Asynchronous Online Only)

The Caribbean, a multi-ethnic, multi-lingual, multi-racial region is both politically diverse and politically fragmented because of its colonial and post-colonial histories. Not only does the Caribbean have states that are autonomous, independent, intentionally dependent and nominally socialist, but the region is one of the most democratic in the world.

Together, we examine the colonial history of the Caribbean, through a critical comparative politics lens, to help explain the political circumstances of select states. We review different forms of political government, assess the utility of Caribbean regional organizations and analyze the impact of Chinese, Taiwanese and the Russian presence in the region. We also evaluate the continued relationships with Europe and the U.S. Lastly, we assess the current and future political opportunities and challenges to Caribbean states.

The One Caribbean image, in the upper left-hand corner, is on a tan colored poster which sits atop a one dimensional globe that is covered in flags of the Caribbean. <http://newsourcegy.com/news/caricom-calls-for-members-review-by-financial-institutions/>

Course Outcome Goals

- ✚ Explain the relevance of major actors, events and ideas that have shaped the Caribbean
- ✚ Identify Caribbean states on a map and differentiate according to colonial heritage, language and demography

- ✚ Analyze the ongoing challenges to the sovereignty of Caribbean states
- ✚ Develop expertise on the political evolution of a select number of Caribbean states
- ✚ Situate the events and global political dynamics that defined the Caribbean in the 20th (and 21st century) into the broader context of global geopolitics
- ✚ Improve critical thinking skills, as applied to Caribbean Studies and Political Science, through engagement with interdisciplinary scholarship and analysis of primary sources

Prerequisites: An open mind and a willingness to engage with new and different information.

Academic Integrity

Rutgers University expects students to maintain the highest ethical standards. The consequences of academic dishonesty, including cheating and plagiarism, are very serious. When you submit an exam or assignment, you need to abide by the honor pledge of “On my honor, I have neither received nor given any unauthorized assistance on this examination or assignment.”

Plagiarism means copying another person’s written work and presenting it as your own. This covers all submitted work in this course. Some possible outcomes of plagiarizing work include failing the assessment, and/or the course, referral to the Academic Dean for further disciplinary actions. The University takes plagiarism very seriously as do I.

Communication Policy

You are responsible for reading all posted announcements. You should log into our course site frequently to check for new announcements. You can contact me via email at hyacinth.miller@rutgers.edu. I will usually respond to email messages within 24 to 48 hours (except for weekends).

When posting to our discussion board or communicating with others,

- Be courteous and respectful of other points of view
- Avoid using slang, colloquial language and abbreviations, which can be misinterpreted
- Do not capitalize all letters because this suggests shouting
- Think and proofread before you submit

When sending me an email, address the email as Dear Professor Miller, or Dear Professor. I WILL NOT RESPOND TO EMAIL MESSAGES THAT BEGIN WITH “Hey” or “Yo.” NO GREETING AT ALL WILL GO TO SPAM.

Always include the subject and course name in the subject line because I teach more than one class per semester.

RU Web mail is the official email address used by the course software. As per Rutgers University policy, faculty are only communicate with students using a Rutgers email. As a result, I will not respond to NON-RU email (unless you are a non-RU student).

Course Delivery

This is a fully online course with online activities, assignments, and lectures. We do not have regularly scheduled meeting times. Your engagement with the course is critical. I can monitor your activities on the course Web page as Canvas creates an electronic record of each student's participation.

Late Submission Policy - No late submissions accepted. This is a four-week course.

Time Commitment

This course includes considerable time spent doing readings, assignments and other work toward course mastery. To be successful in this course, guidelines estimate that you will need to spend at least seven to ten hours on coursework per week. This course has a schedule with deadlines. This course is NOT self-paced. Do not try to 'save-up' all course work to the last day of each unit. Doing work every day works best.

✚ Watching Instructor Video Lectures and other Multimedia:	up to 3 hours
✚ Reading Assignments:	up to 3 hours
✚ Various Weekly Assignments:	up to 3 hours
✚ Composition of Discussion Post and Reply to Peers:	up to 1 hour

Depending on your individual background and/or schedule, some Units may require more time, some less.

Dropping or Withdrawing from the Course

To drop or withdraw from this course, it is not enough to stop posting assignments or attending class. You must withdraw officially through the Registrar's office. If you do not attend class, do not complete the required assignments and do not withdraw, you will receive an F final course grade at the end of the semester.

Required technological skills - Ability to use Canvas

Technical Problems

Direct ALL technical questions to the RU-N IT Service Center. You can also call them at 973-353-5083.

If there is a technical glitch on Canvas, email the assignment to me at hyacinth.miller@rutgers.edu, BEFORE the deadline. In an online environment, there is always a possibility of technical issues (e.g., lost connection, hardware or software failure). Many of these can be resolved relatively quickly, but if you wait until the last minute to do/submit an assignment, the chances of these glitches affecting your success increase. Therefore, plan appropriately.

Required equipment

Computer, Internet access, webcam with microphone OR headphones with microphone; software that can save a file in Microsoft Word.

Course Themes ■ Refer to the modules for specifics on each unit:
