This course introduces students to the history of race and ethnicity in the United States. Focusing on the period after 1865, students will examine the social construction of race and ethnicity, with the aim of understanding the complex ways race and ethnicity have operated in American politics and culture. We will look at how race and ethnicity have been defined; how definitions have changed over time; their internal logic and contradictions; and the political, economic, and cultural work they have performed in post-1865 America. We will approach these issues from a comparative perspective, probing the experiences of differently racialized groups through in-depth analysis of primary and secondary sources. Topics include lynching and Jim Crow, immigrant exclusion, sex across the color line and miscegenation laws, racism in popular culture, postwar creation of urban “ghettos” and suburbanization, and the rise of the prison-industrial complex.
