Course Description:

This course explores the history of African Americans from the end of Reconstruction to the present day. Using primary and secondary source material to trace the social, political, economic and cultural transformations that mark significant episodes in the African American past, this course unearths the historical changes that shape the black experience in America.

Course Objectives:

By the end of this course:

- Students should be able to identify and chart specific events and circumstances central to the black American experience.
- Students should be able to identify and describe significant events in African American history from Reconstruction to the present.
- Students will be able to interpret and analyze a variety of primary and secondary source materials.
- Students will be able to compose "synthetic essays" that analyze, compare and contrast multiple scholarly interpretations and studies.

Requirements:

Discussion Response Papers/Questions & Attendance

The completion of weekly readings is mandatory. You are expected to bring your textbook and all supplemental required readings to class meetings: please print out, and bring to class, readings posted on Blackboard.

Each student is required to compose one discussion question per week derived from the readings. Your typed discussion question should be linked to a specific passage—please quote directly from the text. Your discussion question should be submitted at the start of class on Thursdays. You will not receive credit for your discussion question if you are absent from the class meeting. Each class meeting, several students will be asked to present their question to the class. Your discussion questions, and contributions to class conversations will constitute your participation grade.

Students are expected to attend each scheduled class meeting, to be on time, and to be prepared for each class session. Students are allowed three absences, excused or unexcused, with each further unexcused absence resulting in a deduction of a portion of a letter grade (i.e., B+ dropping to a B).

IMPORTANT: If you miss more than 4 classes, through any combination of excused or unexcused absences, you will not earn credit for this course. Such students should withdraw from the class. An illness that requires medical attention; curricular or extracurricular activities approved by the faculty; personal obligations claimed by the student and recognized as valid; recognized religious holidays; and severe inclement weather causing dangerous traveling conditions are “excused” absences. Class absences will inevitably affect your class participation grade. Repeated tardiness (more than three) will lower your participation grade.

Academic Integrity

Please review Rutgers University-Newark's Academic Integrity Policy and Policy on Plagiarism (<https://spaa.newark.rutgers.edu/phd-university-policy-plagiarism>). Students who violate this policy will be subject to academic penalties and disciplinary sanctions.

Classroom Expectations

Please set your cell phones to the "silent" notification mode during class sessions. Do not use your cell phone to send "text messages," etc. during class meetings. While I understand that many students use laptops and tablets to take notes, I expect that these devices will be used for those purposes only. Please do not audio or video record class meetings or lectures. You are also expected to refrain from distracting and disruptive behaviors (i.e. "chatting" during lectures/discussions, consuming a full meal in class, etc.).

Students With Disabilities

If you have a disability and may need accommodations to fully participate in this class, contact the Office of Student Disability Services at the semester's start. Please review the University's statement below:

Rutgers University welcomes students with disabilities into all of the University's educational programs. In order to receive consideration for reasonable accommodations, a student with a disability must contact the appropriate disability services office at the campus where you are officially enrolled, participate in an intake interview, and provide documentation: <https://ods.rutgers.edu/students/documentation-guidelines>. If the documentation supports your request for reasonable accommodations, your campus's disability services office will provide you with a Letter of Accommodations. Please share this letter with your instructors and discuss the accommodations with them as early in your courses as possible. To begin this process, please complete the Registration form on the ODS web site at: <https://ods.rutgers.edu/students/registration-form>. For more information please contact Kate Torres at (973) 353-5375 or in the Office of Disability Services in the Paul Robeson Campus Center, in suite 219 or by contacting odsnewark@rutgers.edu <<mailto:odsnewark@rutgers.edu>>.

Papers

Students must complete one paper during the semester—the midterm assessment. Students will write a synthetic essay of 5-10 pages that analyzes a theme that emerges from three or more of the secondary source course readings and primary source readings. All writings are to be double-spaced, in 12-pt font, with sources cited in the Chicago format. Extensions will not be granted except for health and family emergencies.

Exams/Quizzes

Reading-check quizzes will be given throughout the semester. Students will also complete a final examination that will assess content explored in course readings and lectures.

Rubrics for all assessments will be posted on Blackboard.*
