GRADING

Students are bound by the university's academic integrity policy, which appears here:

<http://www.ncas.rutgers.edu/office-dean-student-affairs/academic-integrity-policy>.

If you are unsure whether something is permitted, ask the professor, as the penalties are very strict.

TESTS: There is a midterm on Wed. Mar. 7 and a final on Wed. May 9, 11:45-2:45pm, each consisting of a few short essays. The final is comprehensive but emphasizes the material after the midterm.

LECTURE QUESTIONS: At the end of each lecture, you are required to hand in a 3x5 card with one or two brief questions or comments concerning the material covered in the lecture. Grades are based on the number of cards handed in; if you hand in cards for 90% of the sessions, your score will be 90. To receive credit, your card must contain a question or comment on that session.

ABSENCE PENALTY: Your overall course grade will fall by a half-letter for each unexcused absence starting with the fourth one. Arriving late or leaving early is pro-rated: arriving or leaving halfway through class is a half-absence. It is your duty to provide written documentation for absences, and no excuses are accepted after final grades are turned in. Any student who misses eight or more sessions through any combination of excused and unexcused absences will not earn credit in this class and should withdraw by the deadline to avoid getting an F in the class.

CLASS PARTICIPATION: Everyone is required to participate regularly in class discussions, asking questions or making relevant comments. You will receive separate scores for each half of the semester, and your final score will average the two. Scores reflect both the quality and quantity of your participation, but you must speak at least once in each session for a score of 90 or higher. Quality of participation primarily means an ability to answer specific questions on the assigned readings. Please pay attention throughout the whole session; sleeping in class and using any cell phone or similar device will lower your score. No laptops are allowed in this class.

QUIZZES: Because the class is built around discussion of the readings, it is essential that you come to class having done all the readings carefully. There will thus be several unannounced quizzes during the semester. Each will contain a few short, specific questions about the day's assigned readings. The lowest grade on the quizzes will not count.

Lecture questions	5%
Class participation	10%
Quizzes	20%
Midterm	25%
Final exam	40%

Rutgers University welcomes students with disabilities into all of the University's educational programs. In order to receive consideration for reasonable accommodations, a student with a disability must contact the appropriate disability services office at the campus where you are officially enrolled, participate in an intake interview, and provide documentation:

<https://ods.rutgers.edu/students/documentation-guidelines>. If the documentation supports your request for reasonable accommodations, your campus's disability services office will provide you with a Letter of Accommodations. Please share this letter with your instructors and discuss the accommodations with them as early in your courses as possible. To begin this process, please complete the Registration form on the ODS web site at:

<https://ods.rutgers.edu/students/registration-form>. For more information please contact Kate Torres at \(973\)353-5375 or in the Office of Disability Services in the Paul Robeson Campus Center, in suite 219 or by contacting odsnewark@rutgers.edu.
