Important Mask use to prevent COVID spreading:

In order to protect the health and well-being of all members of the Rutgers-Newark community, masks must be worn by all persons inside campus buildings when in the presence of others, and in buildings in non-private enclosed settings (e.g., common workspaces, workstations, meeting rooms, classrooms, etc.). Masks should securely cover the nose and mouth. Masks must be worn during class meetings. Each day before you arrive on campus or leave your residence hall, you must complete the brief survey on the My Campus Pass symptom checker self-screening app found at: myRutgers Portal. THANK YOU

INTRODUCTION

This course is an introduction to markets: the elements that comprise markets and the outcomes of market activity. We will be covering the basics of supply and demand, consumer and firm behavior, and the role of government in the economy. The theories introduced in this course will be supplemented by applications to real world events and current economic problems.

Problem solving and learning by doing are important parts of this course. To do well in the course you must regularly attend the class and do practice problems. You will be required to do homeworks that will be posted on Canvas.

All exams will be multiple-choice. Exam material will come from the class lectures, the textbook and homeworks. I will be using Canvas to post articles, practice exams and announcements—especially homework due dates, so please check Canvas regularly.

By the end of this course, you should have an understanding of the role of markets in allocating resources and the efficiency and equity effects of government policies. You will be expected to understand, in general terms, how economists approach problem solving and how they use supply and demand analysis to understand human behavior and outcomes. This course aims to help you analyze current events and to give you the analytical tools to progress to advanced undergraduate courses in economics.

You are expected to achieve three major learning goals:

- 1) The Big Picture: You will learn how and why capitalism and market-based economies have become the most important economic systems in modern times.
- 2) How to Do Market Analysis: By learning the methods of supply and demand, you will learn how to perform market analysis.
- 3) Critical Thinking: By learning the methods of economics, you will learn how think critically about the world around you.

REQUIRED TEXTS

- Required Textbook and Web platform:

Instructors reserves the right to modify syllabus as needed.

The book we will be using is Principles of Microeconomics by N. Gregory Mankiw (9th edition 2020!). Publisher Cengage

In addition, we will be using the portal called MindTap. You are required to get access to MindTap. You can purchase the book through the Rutgers bookstore or online.

Cengage store link

An eBook version of the book is available through MindTap. You are not required to have the hardcopy of the book. It is up to you if you feel comfortable with the eBook or you would prefer to purchase the printed copy too. MindTap also provides you with a free mobile app that allows you to read the book offline. You will have a 2 weeks' free trial at beginning of the class.

Once you've purchased your subscription to MindTap, you can register for our course by visiting the link that is located in the course CANVAS page. When buying and registering for our course, please use your Rutgers email address to ensure that your account is linked to your Canvas account.

NOTE: To be able to navigate this course you MUST buy the Book with access to Mindtap. There are no exceptions.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

There will be three in-class exams, a cumulative final exam, weekly homework problem sets and class participation through Turning point clickers

Exams:

All exams will be multiple-choice. Exam material will come from the class lectures, the textbook, class activities and homeworks. The final is cumulative.

Exam dates:

In-class Exam 1 – Monday, September 27

In-class Exam 2 – Monday, October 25

In-class Exam 3 – Monday, November 22

Final Exam – during official Final Examination period

Exams will in-person.

I will drop the lowest grade of your three in-class exams.

Homework:

Instructors reserves the right to modify syllabus as needed.

The problem set questions are intended to assess your understanding of the course material covered each week. They are designed to incentivize continual learning and review of readings, and course materials. The concepts and techniques that are introduced in class and in the textbook are practiced and expanded in the homework assignments. Don't neglect them. It's important to practice what is introduced in class and in the book.

All assignments will be posted on the class web site in Canvas. The links in Canvas will refer you to the MindTap platform. You are expected to complete and submit your homeworks through MindTap by the stated deadline. No late assignments will be accepted (no exceptions). If you do not submit an assignment on time, you will receive a zero (0) for that assignment. In calculating your homework grade, the lowest grade will be dropped.

There will be weekly homework during the course. Unless I indicate it otherwise (See calendar below), all homework are due on Sunday 11:59pm. Exceptions are homework before an exam which will be due on Saturday 11:59pm so that you devote time to study for the exam.

Class Attendance and Participation:

In-class participation will allow you to assess your learning as we progress through the material. Participation will help both you and me gauge when concepts are clear and when they need more clarification. Regular participation will also help you from falling behind.

To help facilitate in-class participation, this course will use Turning Point Technology Clicker. You can use a physical clicker device or a mobile ResponseWare option which allows you to respond using your smartphone, tablet or computer through an app or web browser. You need to bring your clicker to EVERY class. Giving your clicker to somebody else to record false attendance and participation is cheating and will not be tolerated. Please register your clicker/clicker account to this course. Some instructions are provided in a pdf in Canvas under course documents. The channel for our classroom is ?? and for mobile sessions the ID is ??

Participation will be assessed in a variety of ways. You are expected to do the assigned readings and be prepared to discuss them in class and practice the application of concepts through different types of questions (Clicker questions, "quick-writes," and individual or group activities). Lastly, collaboration for learning is encouraged, as it will allow you to harness the brain power of more people to support you in your learning. So, share your ideas, notes, and knowledge. Most importantly, form study groups!

GRADING SCHEDULE

COURSE POLICIES

1. READ THIS SYLLABUS!!! If you ask me a question that is answered on the syllabus I will not answer it. Please review this syllabus before you ask or email me any questions about the course.
2. "Preferred Names and Pronouns: Please call me either Professor Rosales or Dr. Rosales. My preferred pronouns are she/her/hers.
3. Read the Study Skills Essay (Canvas/get started module). It gives you some helpful tips about how to study the subject of economics, and what to do if there is a problem.
4. Exams Policy: You will be allowed to drop your lowest grade of the three in-class midterms, but you MUST take the final exam. If you are sick or have a problem and you do not take an in-class exam, then that exam will be the one that does not count. There will be NO make-up exams for any reason.
 - a. If you insist that you want to take your missed in-class midterm because of an illness or a real emergency, you should contact your college advisor and provide verifiable documentation. You must do so the same day of the exam. I reserve the right to determine if your case merits a change in the policy.
5. CELL PHONE POLICY: You must NOT USE your cell phone to chat or surf the web. Cell phones are ONLY PERMITTED for using turning point application to answer the in-class questions. They must be put in silence before class.
6. ELECTRONIC DEVICES POLICY. If you want to take notes you can use a laptop, ipad or other tablet. But please do not surf the web or check your email during class. You can use your smartphone for the clicker questions only (not to chat).
7. You will be allowed to use a basic calculator during the exams. You are NOT allowed to use your cell phone calculator. During the exams you must remove Bluetooth ear devices.
8. Attendance: If you're not there, you can't participate and it is through active participation that you will learn the most. It's not enough just to get the content. More than ONE unexcused absence will result in the loss of participation points for that day. Excused absences are those due to a health or emergency situation and you should submit a well-documented, verifiable, and unavoidable reason.

If you choose to skip class it is your responsibility to get the missed information. You do so at your own peril! Do not email me asking me what you missed.
9. Email policy: I strongly urge you to follow proper 'etiquette' when sending emails. Beyond this course, you will only harm your chances for success if you address colleagues and co-workers with sloppy, slang-filled emails. If I find that you are not following the proper guidelines, I will be posting on Canvas a special webpage devoted to poorly scripted emails. Please adhere to the following guidelines:
 - a. Grammar: I am NOT your texting or Facebook friend. An email to me is a letter to a professor; as such, you should adhere to proper grammar. Use proper capitalization.
 - b. Abbreviations: Again, I am NOT your texting buddy. Do not use abbreviations such as 'u' for 'you,' '4' for 'for,' etc. Use proper capitalization.

Instructors reserves the right to modify syllabus as needed.

- c. Salutations: Do not address me as ‘Ms. Rosales’ or ‘Madam’ ‘Hey Prof’ or something equally as colloquial and inappropriate. Use proper capitalization.
- d. Proofread: Proofread all emails to avoid above-listed errors. An email that contains, for example, spelling mistakes, lack of capitalization, lack of punctuation, and texting abbreviations are inappropriate in emails to professors, co-workers, and superiors. Develop good email habits now, before you embarrass yourself!

I urge you to read the Rutgers “Guidelines for Electronic Communication” at <http://www.nbcs.rutgers.edu/newdocs/gen00201/gen00201.php3>

10. Cheating and Academic Dishonesty will NOT be tolerated and will be prosecuted to the full extent of university regulations. To familiarize yourself with these regulations see the University Policies (<http://academicintegrity.rutgers.edu/>).
11. There will be NO EXTRA CREDIT assignments. Please do not ask me if you can raise your grade by performing an extra credit assignment. Please do NOT request differential treatment as a way to boost your grades.

There are no makeup exams!

12. All exams are timed (Midterms: 1h 30 min; Final 3h). In class midterms must be taken during class time. Final exam data and time will be determined by the registrar.
13. Homework Policies:
 - a. There will be NO deadline extensions. Do not ask me for one. You will be given ample time to do each problem set.
 - b. I will drop the lowest graded problem set, so if you miss one it will not affect your grade.
 - c. Please note: Saying that MindTap /Canvas did not grade the problem set after you did it, is NOT a valid excuse. It is YOUR responsibility to make sure you get a grade.
14. Accommodation policy. Rutgers University welcomes students with disabilities into all of the University's educational programs. In order to receive consideration for reasonable accommodations, a student with a disability must contact the appropriate disability services office at the campus where you are officially enrolled, participate in an intake interview, and provide documentation: <https://ods.rutgers.edu/students/documentation-guidelines>. If the documentation supports your request for reasonable accommodations, your campus's disability services office will provide you with a Letter of Accommodations. Please share this letter with your instructors and discuss the accommodations with them as early in your courses as possible. To begin this process, please complete the Registration form (<https://webapps.rutgers.edu/student-ods/forms/registration>).

Additional resources

- Accommodation and Support Statement Rutgers University Newark (RU-N) is committed to the creation of an inclusive and safe learning environment for all students. RU-N has identified the following resources to further the mission of access and support:
 - Students with Disabilities: Rutgers University welcomes students with disabilities into all of the University's educational programs. The Office of Disability Services (ODS) is responsible for the determination of appropriate accommodations for students who encounter barriers due to disability. In order to receive consideration for reasonable accommodations, a student with a disability must contact ODS, register, have an initial appointment, and provide documentation. Once a student has completed the ODS process (registration, initial appointment, and documentation submitted) and reasonable accommodations are determined to be necessary and appropriate, a Letter of Accommodation (LOA) will be provided to the student. The student must give the LOA to each course instructor, followed by a discussion with the instructor. This should be completed as early in the semester as possible as accommodations are not retroactive. More information can be found at ods.rutgers.edu. Contact ODS: (973) 353-5375 or ods@newark.rutgers.edu.
 - Religious Holiday Policy and Accommodations: Students are advised to provide timely notification to instructors about necessary absences for religious observances and are responsible for making up the work or exams according to an agreed-upon schedule. The Division of Student Affairs is available to verify absences for religious observance, as needed: (973) 353-5063 or DeanofStudents@newark.rutgers.edu.
 - Counseling Services: Counseling Center Room 101, Blumenthal Hall, (973) 353-5805 or <http://counseling.newark.rutgers.edu/>.
 - Students with Temporary Conditions/Injuries: Students experiencing a temporary condition or injury that is adversely affecting their ability to fully participate in their courses should submit a request for assistance at: <https://temporaryconditions.rutgers.edu>.
 - Students Who are Pregnant: The Office of Title IX and ADA Compliance is available to assist students with any concerns or potential accommodations related to pregnancy: (973) 353-1906 or TitleIX@newark.rutgers.edu.
 - Gender or Sex-Based Discrimination or Harassment: Students experiencing any form of gender or sex-based discrimination or harassment, including sexual assault, sexual harassment, relationship violence, or stalking, should know that help and support are available. To report an incident, contact the Office of Title IX and ADA Compliance: (973) 353-1906 or TitleIX@newark.rutgers.edu. To submit an incident report: tinyurl.com/RUNReportingForm. To speak with a staff member who is confidential and does NOT have a reporting responsibility, contact the Office for Violence Prevention and Victim Assistance: (973) 353-1918 or run.vpva@rutgers.edu.
